

will pray for me as I go forth, I need your prayers, how many problems are before us to solve. Oh: to be kept close to him, in the centre of his will, then all will be well. And what more shall I say dear heart, I am feeling real well, yes I am, I believe I have gained in weight since I have been out more in the air doing shopping etc. Will now close with my heart full of love for your own dear self. Next letter shall be on the ocean somewhere.
With love true & tender. In him Margaret.

Bordeaux.

My own dear Clara:—

How sweet the Name of Jesus sounds in a believers ear, it soothes his sorrows heals his wounds and drives away each fear. How glad I am that I know him, & that as I go forth my desire is toward him. Well, dearie as all good things come to those who wait for them, here I am at Bordeaux, sailing the 50th.
We came on here from Paris.

thems, so that we could attend to our baggage; mine has arrived O. H. from Liverpool, tomorrow we get it checked up & it is put on board, I have no one to shed tears after me at Boardman, when I left Paris and said goodbye to my little teacher, all my regrets were finished, although putting out to sea always reminds me our goodbye at New York Such are the paths that we have to travel over life's road, until it will be the last goodbye & then the grand reunion in the morning. Dearie, I thank you for your love & kind remembrance I received your last letter, with the first steamer letter enclosed how one like to think that there is someone whose heart is so warm with love toward them I picture you this afternoon in Sunday School as usual, in your accustomed place, if I cannot go home with you dear heart, I am thinking of you & loving you just the same as ever, I know you
